“HIGH & RISING’S FRESHMAN ALBUM HOWL BRINGS A FRESH FEELING AND APPROACH TO BLUEGRASS, OR AMERICANA-BASED, MUSIC. IT’S ALWAYS A GOOD SIGN WHEN YOU CAN HEAR A BAND AT A DISTANCE AND KNOW WHO IT IS. THAT UNIQUENESS OFTEN MEANS THAT A BAND HAS FOUND A SOUND THAT FITS THEM AND THEIR OWN HUMANLY VIBRATIONS,” SHARES MUSICIAN ADAM GREUEL, HORSESHOES & HAND GRENADES.

“WISCONSIN HAS BEEN GROWING ITS UNIQUE JAM-BAND STYLE OF BLUEGRASS. ONE OF THOSE UNIQUELY STYLED BANDS IS HIGH AND RISING,” WRITES EMERALD BUTLER, THE BLUEGRASS STANDARD.

ARTIST BIO

Out of Western Wisconsin and the banks of the mighty Mississippi River grew this “Groovy Grass” band of music makers. High & Rising most often plays as a trio, with a unique combination of instruments that bring a fresh groovy sound to the Bluegrass & Folk American scene.

The trio, led by Laura Farley (upright bass/vocals) and supported by Jym Farley (acoustic guitar) and Ben Rohde (percussion) have quickly made a name for themselves through their prolific songwriting and performances along-side notable musicians who are also featured on the album: Adam Greuel & Davey Lynch of Horseshoes & Hand Grenades; Chris Castino of The Big Wu; Ernest Brusubardis IV & Ryan Ogburn of Chicken Wire Empire; Augie Dougherty of Armchair Boogie; Craig Baumann of The People Brothers Band; Rick Krueuziger of The Pat Watters Band; Leo Albertoni of Old Soul Society; and Kenny Leiser of Joseph Huber.
